Jasminum nudiflorum

Brian Leib, manager of the Arboretum’s research greenhouses at the Weld Hill Building, will speak about this species from northern China in the Oleaceae. Grown as a ground-covering shrub or trained as a vine, winter jasmine’s yellow flowers signal the coming of spring. Meet in the Leventritt Shrub and Vine Garden at Acc. #: 654-2003*A at 5:00pm on Tuesday, April 2.

Nearest Gate: Arborway and Forest Hills, park along the Arborway. Centre Street, limited spaces.
